

Dr. Sebastian Barnutz

For some, our probing inquiries may be uncomfortable. For a Metaplanner, however, this kind of reaction is a strong indication that we are nearing the core of the challenges that face your company.

Vita

Dr. Sebastian Barnutz (b. 1975) earned a PhD in international studies from the University of Warwick and joined Metaplan in 2011. He previously held executive positions in the fields of research and higher education. His current activities focus on strategy and organizational consulting and peer group marketing. He works with international clients in pharmaceuticals, medical technology, and renewable energy.

Personal interests

Sebastian's favorite ways of spending his free time are on the water under sail, playing the guitar in his band, or taking long walks in the countryside.
