

Dr. Claudia Langen

Vita

Claudia Langen, economist and historian graduated from the Universities of Cologne and Cambridge, started her career at the internal consulting department of the Bertelsmann Group. From the media company's diverse business models, she moved on to work for the German think tank and reform factory Bertelsmann Foundation. As Executive Director she set up a mentoring organisation with six German branches and then managed a training institute specialised in action learning. After several years of managing experience, she started her own business as a consultant focussing on strategic communication and leadership. Motivated by the conviction that good leadership is crucial for designing and developing organisations in a successful way, she decided to join Metaplan in 2014.

Personal interests

Claudia was born in Bremen and lives in Hamburg and the Palatinate region today. In the North, she appreciates the fresh air when rowing and cycling; in the Southwest, she enjoys the cultural and culinary diversity when she's out and about with family and friends.
