

Isabell Hager

Vita

Isabell Hager (born 1989) took organizational studies at the Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam and culture and communication courses at the Zeppelin University on Lake Constance. Her interest in the strategies of distinctive groups of performers within organisation structures has featured her entire academic career.

She acquired her corporate communication and human resources development skills working in plant engineering and the automotive industry. Since 2016, she has been consulting for Metaplan.

Personal interests

Isabell's creative flow knows no limits: As a trained carpenter, she likes making wood sculptures whenever she gets the chance. And when she's not carving wood, she enjoys cooking with her friends or sitting on the balcony in the sun, having a good read in her favourite armchair.

Working languages

German, English
