

Dr. Bennet van Well

Vita

Dr. Bennet van Well (b. 1967) holds a degree in economics and joined Metaplan in 2008. In 2014, he became partner. He was a management consultant at Schering and executive assistant to the CFO first at Schering and then at Bayer within the framework of the post merger integration. Before this, he conducted organization research and completed his PhD on the organization of knowledge-intensive inter-firm networks. He provides consulting services for managing directors and top management teams particularly in the area of strategy processes and organizational design and change. His sector focus includes logistics, mechanical engineering, the pharmaceutical industry and professional service firms.

Personal interests

Apart from spending time with family and friends, Bennet enjoys excursions that take him out into the countryside. He loves good food and is very capable of preparing it himself. He is a periodic reader. And when he does find a book fascinating, he can hardly put it down.
